Dear Bob:

Just wanted to let you know that I have not forgotten about you and remain interested in your situation. I spent this afternoon reviewing your correspondence and compiling a lengthy memo, creating a chronology of events.

I will be drafting a note to my editor in the immediate future asking for time to work on this story. If and how quickly I'll be granted such time is hard to say. I remain convinced that this is a worthwhile case worthy of media attention.

I will write you again as soon as I have anything new to report. Please keep me updated, especially regarding Powell McHenry's response to your letter of Jan. 11. If P&G would opt to take any legal action against you, that would add a great deal of urgency to this matter.

Regards,

Patricia Gallagher
